ⁱ Special Election.

ⁱⁱ Special Election due to death of Gov. Earl Snell. Hall, who had succeeded to governor, lost in the special primary.

ⁱⁱⁱ Incumbent Gov. Adlai Stevenson won the Democratic primary, but dropped out of the gubernatorial race to run for President.

^{iv} Special Election.

^v Note that sources differ as to whether Gov. Rogers ran for a full term in 1954.

^{vi} Special Election due to the death of Gov. Paul Patterson. Smith succeeded Patterson in January 1956 and lost the special election in November.

^{vii} After losing the Republican primary, Lee ran as an Independent in the general election, losing again.

^{viii} Blair Lee was "Acting Governor" while running for Governor (and losing in the Democratic primary) in 1978.

^{ix} Harvey Wollman lost the Democratic primary in June 1978 before succeeding to the governorship in July 1978.

^x Edwards was entitled to a run-off but withdrew after the primary/first round of voting.

^{xi} Mark Singel, who lost this election, was Acting Governor for 6 months in 1993 while Gov. Casey underwent surgery. Casey had resumed his role as Governor at the time of the 1994 election.

^{xii} The Republican Party chose (at its Convention) not to put Gov. Walker on the Primary ballot.

^{xiii} David Paterson, who completed Eliot Spitzer's term, was initially a candidate for re-election in 2010. He withdrew from the race on Feb. 26, 2010.

^{xiv} Special Election to complete Gov. Huntsman's term.

^{xv} Special Election to complete Gov. Manchin's term.

^{xvi} Incumbents are not permitted to run for successive terms under the Virginia State Constitution.
