<sup>ii</sup> Special Election due to death of Gov. Earl Snell. Hall, who had succeeded to governor, lost in the special primary.

<sup>iii</sup> Incumbent Gov. Adlai Stevenson won the Democratic primary, but dropped out of the gubernatorial race to run for President.

<sup>v</sup> Note that sources differ as to whether Gov. Rogers ran for a full term in 1954.

<sup>vi</sup> Special Election due to the death of Gov. Paul Patterson. Smith succeeded Patterson in January 1956 and lost the special election in November.
